TWO CENTS

FIRST OF CHARLEROI'S SOLDIER DEAD ARRIVED TODAY AT NOON

Body of Arden E. Calvert Is Returned from France By Government

FUNERAL SERVICES TOMORROW

The body of Arden E. Calvert, one of Charleroi's dead in the great World War, arrived on the Pennsylvania train at one o'clock today, and the remains were at once taken to the Frye undertaking rooms, and later taken to the family home on Fallowfield avenue.

Arden E. Calvert, Private First Class, Medical Corps of the United States Army, died in Savenay, France, November 6, 1918, of lobar pneumonia. At the time of his death he was a few days past his 23rd birthday anniversary, and just prior to his death was making arrangements to leave France for the United States on his way home.

At the time of his enlistment he was a fourth year student at Mercersburg Academy, but the call was so strong that he left his studies to enlist in the Army a few months before his graduation. Assigned to the medical corps he saw many months of active duty in France, only to be cut down by pneumonia just when he was about to leave for the United States.

He was a student in the Charleroi High school, going from here to Mercersburg Academy. As a student he was a leader in athletics, and had received many medals for competition in various events. He was a member of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian Sunday school and also of the Boys' Brigade.

Private funeral services will be held from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Calvert, Fallowfield avenue, Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, which will be attended by all former service men. The remains will be taken to the Monongahela cemetery, where they will be placed in the receiving vault of the mortuary chapel until such time as the mausoleum which Mr. Calvert proposes to build there is completed.

The body was accompanied from New York by Private First Class Claude Berkstreser of Co. M, 16th United States Infantry.

Notice To Service Men

All former service men are requested to meet on Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the borough building to proceed from there to the residence of Wm. H. Calvert, Fallowfield avenue, to attend the funeral services of our late Comrade Arden E. Calvert, which will be held at 2 o'clock.

Committee.

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Palmer of Monessen and Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Manon attended the banquet and meeting of the Interstate Association of Anesthetists and Odontological Society given at the William Penn hotel, Pittsburgh, Tuesday evening.

ANOTHER SOLDIER'S BODY TO ARRIVE

Mrs. Margaret Welsh of Tenth and McKean received a telegram this morning announcing that the body of her son, Harry Welsh, had arrived in New York from France, and would be shipped to M. T. Crowley at Charleroi immediately upon an answer to the message. The deceased served in the 38th United States Infantry, Regular Army and died December 6th, 1918 in Germany where his regiment was part of the Army of Occupation. He enlisted October 6, 1917. Further funeral notice will be published as soon as the body arrives in Charleroi, which will likely be some time tomorrow.

MERGER APPROVED BY PLATE GLASS COMPANY

At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company on Tuesday in Pittsburgh the plan for a merger of the Columbia Chemical company and the Patton-Pitcairn company with the Plate Glass company, which was submitted by the board of directors of the first named company, was ratified by the largest vote ever cast at a stockholders meeting. Similar action was taken by stockholders of the other two companies. In each instance the proposition was approved without opposition. The merged companies will be known as the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

J. D. BERRYMAN ON BOARD OF DIRECTORS

At the Wednesday session of the first annual convention of the Pennsylvania Retail Dry Goods Association, which met in Philadelphia, John D. Berryman of Charleroi, was elected as a member of the board of directors for the coming year. Charles S. Caldwell, of Washington was also selected as a member of this board.

The report that the ex-Kaiser confidently expects to return to Germany and chop heads instead of trees is doubtless exaggerated. Even a Hohenzollern is likely to know when he is down and out.

There is no discount on these fine October days. The past few days are the finest we have experienced for many months.

SEVERELY CRITICISE TOWNSHIP OFFICERS

The district attorney's office at Washington is very severe in its criticism of the delinquency of the officers or officers in the East Bethel township action for not acting at once last Saturday night, when a man named George Artist stabbed and fatally wounded Grant Robinson. It is understood that the constable gave as his excuse that no information had been made against Artist, and he therefore had no authority to make the arrest.

Notwithstanding the efforts of the court and the district attorney to have constables report at once to the county authorities criminal offenses of a serious character, it still appears that the officers of the law are still delinquent in this duty.

The first intimation the district attorney received of the case was Monday afternoon, when the hospital authorities at Monongahela called up and told him that Robinson was in a critical condition and would likely die, and asked what the authorities were going to do.

County Detective John Weimer was assigned to the case and managed to trace the man as far as Charleroi, where the trail was lost. Artist lived on a shanty boat at Millsboro. He does not bear a good reputation, drinks to excess and has been in trouble before.

CHARTIERS SOUTHERN BUYS RIGHTS-OF-WAY

The Chartiers Southern Railway company on Wednesday filed two deeds for right of way in the recorder's office at Waynesburg, secured in Franklin township, Greene county. These deeds include six acres from A. S. Carpenter and one-half acre from the Phelan heirs. This land is along South Ten Mile creek, adjoining the borough of Waynesburg. According to the deed Mr. Carpenter received $400 per acre for his land, and $500 was the price paid the lot purchased from the Phelan heirs. The purchase of these two small tracts of land revives the hopes of Greene county people that the railroad may soon be extended up South Ten Mile creek from Jefferson to Waynesburg.

SUGAR DROPS TO A NEW LOW PRICE

Further impetus to the downward movement of sugar was given on Wednesday when the Federal Refining company lowered its list price another half cent a pound to 11 1/2 cents a pound for fine granulated sugar, a new low level for the year. A few weeks ago sugar was being quoted in some centers at 22 1/4 cents per pound.

RETAILERS MUST BEAR PART OF ADJUSTMENT

Retailers will have to bear their share in the adjustment of business and prices to restore normal conditions, according to an address made by George W. Norris, governor of the Pennsylvania Dry Goods Association on Wednesday. He said that no business or financial panic of magnitude is imminent because the nation has successfully passed the three-quarter mark of a hard time period.

BOLD ATTEMPT TO ROB POOL ROOM

A bold attempt at daylight robbery was frustrated at Webster just below Monessen, shortly after noon on Wednesday, when two men entering the Donnelly pool room at the lower end of town apprehended an unknown man attempting to open the cash register and frightened him away. He made good his escape.

The proprietor of the room and Alvie Wenzel, an employee, were fixing one of the tables while a rather well dressed stranger looked on. Donnelly sent out for a pair of pliers. These were secured but were not what was wanted, and the proprietor left the room to secure another pair, leaving Wenzel and the stranger in the pool room. Wenzel was bending over to pick something from the floor when the unknown man struck him a heavy blow on the back of the head with a piece of iron pipe he had picked unnoticed from the floor. Wenzel was knocked down but not rendered unconscious. He saw the man leap for the cash register, bent on robbery. At this juncture two patrons of the room entered and the unknown fled at their approach. They pursued him for a distance down the railroad but he was too fleet of foot and got away.

Harold J. Fitzmaurice.

Harold J. Fitzmaurice, son of Joseph J. and Grace M. Fitzmaurice, died Wednesday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock at the Charleroi-Monessen hospital, aged 11 years and 11 months. Funeral services will be held from the home of the parents, 1207 Crest avenue, Saturday afternoon at one o'clock, interment in South Side cemetery, Pittsburgh.

Proposes to Install Sand and Gravel Yard and Provide Storage

SIX ACRES ARE IN THE TRACT

By deed dated September 24, 1920, John K. Tener and others convey to John Wise, for the Charleroi Supply company, a tract of land fronting 470 feet on Second street, the consideration being $25,000. The tract in question is located between the railroad and the river on the south side of Second street, and has a river frontage extending from the Second street wharf to Maple creek. The tract contains about six acres, and is at the present time unoccupied except for the buildings used at the Charleroi bathing beach.

It is the purpose of the new owners of the property to have a railroad siding installed at that place, where gravel and sand can be unloaded, and also to establish a place for storage purposes. Work began on Tuesday to excavate for the installation of a 20-ton auto truck scales, which will be located on Second street, near the railroad crossing. The plans of the company have not been fully matured, but the new owners of the property expect to utilize all of it eventually for storage and supply purposes. It is a fine location and well adapted for the plans of the company, which has recently been organized by local capitalists.

WHY THE KICKER KICKS.

Alexander Hamilton, who came to this country from a British dependency in the West Indies was, like the typical Englishman of his period, too much interested in a powerful central government and too little concerned for the right of local self-government or home rule. Many New Yorkers hesitated to vote the adoption of the Federal Constitution of 1787 because of the fear that it gave too much power to the central government and would too greatly limit the sovereignty and freedom of their State. Hamilton failed to do justice to this sentiment in his fight for the ratification of the Constitution, but this very keen observer of human affairs gave expression to ideas which, taken apart from their immediate application, reached deeply into the roots of human nature and very accurately characterized much opposition to proposed public policies, as, for example, when he wrote:

"Men often oppose a thing merely because they have had no agency in planning it, or because it may have been planned by those they dislike. But if they have been consulted and have happened to disapprove, opposition then becomes, in their estimation an indispensable duty of self-love. Men of upright, benevolent tempers have too many opportunities of remarking with horror to what desperate lengths this disposition is sometimes carried, and how often the great interests of society are sacrificed to the vanity, to the conceit, and to the obstinacy of individuals, who have credit enough to make their passions and their caprices interesting to mankind."

"NO PLACE TO GO."

People who are required to go away from home to work these times are finding it more and more difficult to find home entertainment. A multitude of them can do nothing better than hire a room to sleep in and then they have to eat in lunch rooms, a poor substitute for home life. The typical old fashioned boarding house and the little economies of the landlady have been much ridiculed. It was an institution that brought together all types of people. Sometimes the association was pleasant and sometimes jarring personalities were compelled to mingle. But it did provide a fairly good substitute for home comforts for millions of people. There are many who would be glad to find homes of this old type still open to them.

Women who used to take boarders declare that there is no money in the business, unless they charge a price that people with a moderate income can not afford to pay. The consequence is that many strangers and newcomers in towns all over the country are compelled to depend upon restaurants for table service, while a room provides a place in which to spend the night. A return to the old days when families entertained one or more paid guests would be gladly welcomed by hundreds and thousands of those who are compelled for many months in the year to put up with makeshift arrangements for their living.

FRANKIE CONDEMNS HIS PARTY.

Candidate Roosevelt declares that millions upon millions are wasted through duplication of work in the administrative departments. He tried to leave the inference that the Republican Congress is responsible for this. The people of the country will remember, however, that a Democratic Congress was in power for eight years, and that President Wilson has been in power over the administrative departments over seven years. At any time in that seven years, President Wilson could command any one of his subordinates to discontinue any duplication of work. That there might be no doubt of his authority in that regard, Congress passed the Overman act, which specifically provides that the President may shift the personnel and reassign duties so that needless expense may be saved. The fact is that Congress has been trying to force the Democratic administration to practice economy in this regard, but the departments and bureaus strive to continue their old work and secure funds with which to undertake new operations, even if in so doing they duplicate something already provided for. Mr. Roosevelt's criticism of duplication of work is a criticism of the Democratic party and of that party alone.

Governor Cox says:—"The President of the United States is commander-in-chief of the army and navy but he cannot order one of your sons to war unless Congress gives its consent." American sailors and marines were ordered to Vera Cruz by President Wilson to avenge an insult offered to President Wilson by President Huerta in failing to salute the flag. About twenty sons of American mothers were killed in that expedition, concerning which Congress was not asked. Congress never authorized the Siberian expedition. Artemus Ward must have been thinking of Governor Cox when he said: "It is better not to know so much, than to know so much that ain't so."

According to official statement, before prohibition there were about 600,000 persons engaged in the brewing and distilling industries. Now, according to the Philadelphia Record, "there are about 100,000,000." And judging from the domestic wine making one sees and hears about in one's own neighborhood, there is no very great exaggeration.

Mr. Wilson is getting into the campaign for the purpose of saving the covenant of the league of nations. However, it appears to be such a scrap heap that it is hardly likely the American people will consider it worth saving. In the meantime Mr. Cox says he would "confer with the Senate" on clarifying reservations if he is elected.

Henry Ford's pre-war prices, to which he now announces his return, ranged from only 14 to 31 percent less than his recent prices, indicating that he advanced his prices only moderately while profiteers were boosting prices to the very limit of their "nerve."

Evidently Bruce Sterling, Democratic candidate for Congress in the twenty-third district is going to have some trouble in his home county of Fayette. Present indications are that the county will go Republican with a greater majority than ever before.

Eight separate investigations of the Wall street explosion are in progress and rewards aggregating $20,000 are offered, but unfortunately murderous anarchists appear to be about as successful as deadly rattlesnakes in leaving no tracks.

WHEN LIGHT DAWNED ON HIM

Young Man Understood Why the Maiden at First Shrank From His Warm Embrace.

After the glory of the setting sun it was dark. The man felt afraid as he stumbled on after his companion who, woman-like, went straight ahead, regardless of all obstacles.

Angry murmurs from the unseen people whose toes they trampled on followed them like the wash of a steamer. But she paid no heed; to him fell the duty of muttering apologies. Just as despair was seizing him he saw her straight ahead. She had obtained a seat. And investigation showed that the one next to hers was empty. Into it he sank thankfully. The picture was one of love and bravery, with the usual fair heroine and handsome hero and beetle-browed villain. As they watched he slipped an arm around her slender waist and drew her to him.

She struggled for a moment, much to his surprise. Then she yielded and he felt her nestle close to his manly chest.

Five minutes later the picture ended, and the lights went up. Then he understood—he was embracing the Beautiful Oregon Waterfalls.

Waterfalls that rival in beauty the most splendid cataracts of the Pacific northwest have just been discovered on the western slope of the Cascades in Oregon. Although within 40 miles of Portland, a city of 260,000 people, no white man, so far as the record shows, had ever seen them until recently.

The falls lie almost in the center of Bull Run forest reserve, set aside by the government to protect Bull Run river the source of Portland's water supply. The reserve is closed to all visitors except employees of the government, and of the city of Portland who may go there on business, a precaution taken to protect the timber of the watershed against fires that might be started by careless campers. The reserve, which includes 22 square miles of mountains and forest, was set aside by congress in 1902, and has been closely guarded ever since.

OUR PROSPERITY DEPENDS ON TARIFF

Special Correspondence.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 6.—Little attention seems to be paid so far in this political campaign to the tariff question. Every student of American history and economics knows that upon the tariff, one way or the other depends in a great measure the prosperity of the United States and the welfare and happiness of the people.

It is a basic proposition, which cannot be disputed, that this country has prospered exceedingly under high or protective tariff systems, during republican administrations, and has correspondingly failed to prosper with free trade or a "tariff for revenue only" under democratic administrations.

The democratic party is committed in this campaign to a low tariff policy. Its platform says: "We reaffirm the traditional policy of the democratic party in favor of a tariff for revenue only." President Wilson, in stating his fourteen peace terms to Congress, demanded: "The removal, as far as possible, of all economic barriers and the establishment of an equality of trade conditions among all nations consenting to the peace and associating themselves for its maintenance."

The President there declared, openly and without disguise, for a free trade policy—a kind of soviet world trade arrangement. It was a positive declaration by the President that the United States, in its treaty of peace, must guarantee to Europe free trade with the United States without any tariff safeguards whatever to protect the American business man, manufacturer, farmer and laborer from foreign competition in home markets. No one can deny if the tariff bars are completely swept away when peace is finally signed, that the European nations with their cheaper labor, will be able to completely dominate markets for many manufactured goods in the United States that are now supplied by American manufacturers. American products would be driven out of the home markets and American manufacturers put out of business, with unemployment to American labor following.

The American manufacturer, with his higher wages he pays to American labor than is paid in European countries, cannot compete with European products if the products are admitted duty free as President Wilson wants them admitted, or with a small tariff for "revenue only." The same conditions would prevail concerning the competition of all other nations of the world, particularly Japan, because in Japan labor is the poorest paid in the world.

So well do the people of the United States understand the tariff question that the republican party has never been defeated on a tariff issue when it presented that issue squarely to the electorate.

Free trade absolute and complete, or a low tariff, with all its tremendous economic ills, looms for the next four years, if the democrats win in November.

The National republican platform says: "The republican party reaffirms its belief in the protective principle, and pledges itself to a revision of the tariff as soon as conditions shall make it necessary for the preservation of the home market for American labor, agriculture and industry."

The issue is clear cut between the two parties on this question. The voter must choose in November whether he wants prosperity in a declared republican protective tariff policy, or low wages, and a poorer scale of living, or no wages, which will surely follow foreign competition under a declared Democratic tariff policy.

A republican president and a republican Congress elected in November, would be a guarantee to the people that there would be no free tariff disaster, no bread lines, no business failures, and none of the other tremendous economic ills that have invariably followed inauguration of a "tariff for revenue only" policy.

Our neighbor, Canada, is preparing to inaugurate a protective tariff policy much stronger than has heretofore prevailed in the Dominion. A statement submitted recently to the Canadian Tariff Commission by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association declared that "Canada cannot relinquish her policy of protective tariff, but must build upon it with an aim to advance Canada toward her destiny as a fully developed nation." Even Mexico is preparing to establish a protective tariff to foster her industries.

One aftermath of the world war has been a general strengthening of tariff walls of all the leading nations.

Every European country is protecting its labor, industry and agriculture with stiff tariffs. The United States must do likewise or suffer in competition with the manufacturers of these countries, which are conducted with cheap labor. Living on a scale of wages that the American laboring man cannot exist upon under any circumstances.

THE PRICE SHE PAYS

There is hardly an American woman nowadays who can keep pace with the demands made upon her time and energy without paying the penalty of ill-health. It may be that dreadful backache, dragging pains, headaches, nervousness or the tortures of a displacement. It is the price she pays. To women in this condition Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound comes as a boon and a blessing. A simple remedy made from roots and herbs which brings glorious health to suffering women.

Notice To Stockholders.

A special meeting of the Stockholders of the First National Bank of Charleroi, Pa., will be held Tuesday, November 9, 1920, at 6:45 for the purpose of electing two Directors to fill vacancies in the Board. Membership, caused by amending Articles of Association. Oct. 7-14-21-23

Prolonging Human Life.

The life of the fruit fly, by means of a reduction in the temperature from 30 to 10 degrees centigrade, was prolonged 900 per cent. Loeb figured that if by any means it should be possible to lower the temperature of the human body to 7.5 degrees centigrade, human life could be extended to 100 years. This was of course not a prediction, but simply a logical principle derived from these experiments. He quite clearly states that the human organism cannot take on the temperature of the surrounding air, as does the fruit fly, and even if it could, life at that low temperature would be wholly undesirable—Eugene I. Fisk in the Yale Review.

Tomb of Napoleon III.

The body of Napoleon III lies in a tomb in the Church of St. Michael at Farnborough, England. This chapel was built by the ex-Empress Eugenie as a memorial to her husband. In the crypt also is placed the tomb of her son, the prince imperial, who was killed while fighting with the English army in Zululand. The church is a magnificent building of white stone, and stands on the brow of a hill. It is surrounded by a tower and flanked with dozens of smaller shafts. The empress used to visit the chapel daily. Ten priests were constantly employed by her to say masses for the dead.

Solomon's Temple.

It is believed today by many savants that the Old Testament description of Solomon's temple was written by the Jews after their return from the captivity, with the memory of the real splendors of Babylon fresh in their minds. Says Archbishop Mackay, writing in the Atlantic Monthly, "It is possible that the actual temple was a simple place of worship. If it had been otherwise it is hardly possible that no remains of it would be visible today, seeing that the temples of Egypt, which are so much older, remain, in some cases, almost intact."

WHEN BLANKET IS REMOVED

Russians May Be a Great People When the Bolshevik Cloud Has Been Dissipated.

Nobody can tell what a horse looks like until his blanket is taken off.

Who knows! When this unspeak-able bolshevik screen is removed maybe the Russians will emerge as a great race. Every people has done hard and queer things at times. "Girard" writes in the Philadelphia Press.

Oxford university is, perhaps, the intellectual center of the earth, and yet Oxford was so beguiled that it burned the books of John Milton, as blasphemous. It was Oxford, also, which declared during the Revolutionary war, "that Americans as a people have forfeited their lives and their fortunes in the justice of a state."

Now look at the other side. In that same war, the czar of Russia refused to sell 20,000 soldiers to King George to fight against George Washington.

And we, here in the United States constantly abuse the Turk, who kills an Armenian now and then, and forget how we killed the Indians for three centuries. On one occasion, the zealous Christians of New England, not far from Harvard, shut up 700 Pequot in a modern prison and, according to John Fiske, all but five were burned to death or murdered.

So I say that in the next century the Russian and the Turk may travel around the globe as fast as John Bull and Uncle Jonathan have in the last hundred or two years.

One Sunday morning three couples went for a ride in the country. We got out all right, but on the way back we had engine trouble. While the men worked on the engine the girls gathered flowers and hay to decorate the car. When we again got started we could not drive more than 12 miles an hour or the engine would stop. When we got in the city we noticed people watching and laughing at us. We thought it was because we were going so slow, but when we looked back we thought differently. A mule was following us, chewing the hay from the back of the car. —Chicago Tribune.

Cheering the Invalid.

When a man is sick if he shall find in the house or the hospital a solemn nurse addicted to reading Gibbon and John Bunyan instead of Joe Miller's Joke Book and Mr. Dooley, he will grow steadily worse and the chances are that he will almost die before he gets well. A cheerful nurse with a laugh like running water, and eyes that shine and a snap to her nose, is the greatest medicine in the world in which we live. —Los Angeles Times.

Orthodoxy's Duty to Heresy.

I believe that progress depends more upon the safeguarding of the rights of heresy than upon the protection of orthodoxy, says a writer in the Century. Every forward step in history had, in the very nature of the case, to begin with an attack upon the then existing order. Had effective means for preserving the status quo existed from the dawn of human history, history of our today living amidst surroundings of culture and safety. We should probably be chasing one another with clubs through the forest and drinking blood from the severed skulls of our victims, while the head of some primitive Patrick Henry afforded a delectable dish for some embryo censor. All this is the most frayed and weathered platitude, but unless we base our conception of liberty and our policies of freedom upon it, we are doomed either to political and social stagnation, on the one hand or to riotous revolution on the other.

Seems Like Decree of Fate.

After being in a number of the worst battles fought during the World war, where he successfully dodged bullets and all other death-dealing missiles to the extent of saving his life, although hit 22 times in a way to cause grievous wounds, Richard J. Foran, thirty-two years old, was instantly killed by lightning a few days ago while standing under a tree a short distance from his home near Paterson, N. J. The bolt marked his forehead with a scar, as well as his right thigh and right leg from the knee to the ankle; tore off the rim of his hat, both shoes and his trousers from the hip.

Foran served in the war with the Three Hundred and Ninth Machine Gun battalion and seemed to have led a charmed life. But when old Jupiter Fulminator buried a bolt at him there was no escape. Fortune had deserted and his career was ended.

Mark Memorial Trees.

Regardless of how thoughtfully the trees have been selected and how thoroughly the planting has been done, there remains intelligent care to have them live and thrive, says the American Forestry association of Washington, which will register four memorial trees on its national honor roll. Many planters have been disappointed with the results of their work because they considered their job completed when the last shovelful of soil was placed around the tree.

Neat Worker.

"Father, please let me marry Jim.
He's so neat. Why, when he was in France he got two medals for cleaning up dangerous and mopping up." —The Tortoiseshell From Cotton.

Most of the so-called tortoiseshell rims that are put around eye-glasses never had anything to do with a tortoise. They are made from cotton.
In fact, many umbrella handles, hairpins, combs, buttons, buckles and bracelets are also made from cotton.
The cotton is first turned into tissue paper; this is then heated, dried and dusted. Next the paper threads are dipped into a mixture of nitric and sulfuric acids. The mixture is pressed out of it and the remainder is ground fine. It is mixed with ether, alcohol, camphor and other things to form a doughlike mass. Under hydraulic pressure the dough is kneaded and molded into the proper shape.
The slices are then sliced and dried.
While the material is still plastic the proper dyes are added. The most common colors are black, tortoiseshell and pearl.

No Inaction in Life.

The fact that life means continuous action from the cradle to the grave affords us much food for thought. We sometimes forget that we are going either forward or backward all the time; that we do not stand in our tracks and watch the world roll by and that we either win or lose life's victory day by day. There is no such thing as inaction in the business of life; there are too many forces about us clamoring for expression to admit of our remaining idle. We must either fight for our existence or be swept out of the ring, crushed and defeated. If we were to look into the book of our own lives and turning it page by page, examine carefully the record, we would find that compared with this time last year, for example, we have either pressed onward or fallen back. —Charleston News and Courier.

Embroidery an Old Art.

The art of embroidery has been practiced from time immemorial—it is said to be as old as the art of dressing. The mummy clothes of ancient Egypt show the earliest extant embroidery, and the "pomegranates of blue and purple and scarlet" of the Book of Exodus were of embroidery.
The art reached its height in the early middle ages. In Greece and Rome, laws were made to moderate its use, but without success.

Ignorance in Russia.

There seems little doubt that, with the exception of one or two of the Balkan states, Russia is the most illiterate country in Europe, over 60 per cent of the inhabitants being unable to read or write. Yet the capital is the largest university in the world.

ANOTHER COAL DEAL IN GREENE COUNTY

By a deed placed on record on Wednesday J. D. C. Miller, of Waynesburg, who recently purchased the Sayers coal and other tracts lying just east of Waynesburg, transfers it to the Waynesburg Gas Coal company, a corporation with offices in Pittsburgh. The deed transfers coal underlying five tracts of land containing 642.5952 acres and the two-thirds interest in the coal under three tracts containing 232.
5309 acres. The consideration named in the deed is $1.00.

HEAVY ODDS PLACED IN HARDING'S FAVOR

In Pittsburgh on Wednesday a supporter of Senator Harding for President posted $1,000 on the Stock Exchange to bet at odds of 10 to 1 that the Republican nominee would be elected with no takers. Odds in New York have been prevailing at 5 to 1 and 6 to 1, with Senator Harding as the favorite.

The important thing is that the wo-

Dante is by all odds the greatest genius Italy has produced. He stands with Homer and Milton as one of the greatest triumvirate of colossal imaginations that have come upon the earth. By what rule these men of transcendent imagination and genius lived, moved and had their being we know not. They seemed to rise from the shadows and they went in the mist, leaving behind them their masterpieces of imagination, which, when we read, it would seem as if they were veritable fallen gods, who remembered heaven.

ENGINEERS DIFFER ABOUT CONCRETE BASE

Paving of East Donner avenue, may come to a standstill and the public as well as those who have business enterprises along that thoroughfare may be caused some inconvenience unless some agreement is reached in a dispute between the borough engineers and the engineers of the street railway company. It seems there is a difference between these officials as to what constitutes a concrete base, and so far they have been unable to come to an agreement.

At a recent meeting of the borough council drastic action was taken to settle the dispute through a process of law, and W. D. Hunter was directed to ask court for a temporary injunction restraining the company from proceeding further with the work of laying the foundation and tracks until the matter can be settled without the expense and delay caused by court action. An attempt is being made to reach an amicable agreement, whereby the work may proceed and be completed before winter sets in.

ANTICIPATE BUILDING BOOM AT DONORA

Donora is anticipating a building boom with the coming of next spring due to a decrease in the price of lumber. The price of all building materials is said to be on a downward trend, and this is expected to stimulate activities during the next year in the way of building. Practically no houses have been erected for the past couple of years, due first to war conditions, and in these later months to high prices. With a more moderate price for materials it is expected people will be more inclined to undertake construction work, which will tend to greatly relieve the house shortage, which has been so acute for so many months.

DEATH REMOVES NAME FROM TICKET

The State Department at Harrisburg on Wednesday wired the County Commissioners in the various counties of the Twenty-fourth Congressional district not to place the name of George Plummer Baker, Socialist candidate, on the November ballot, official notification of his death having been filed. Baker was defeated for the Republican nomination, but accepted the nomination tendered him by the Socialists.

The man who used to give his small change to the hobo now finds that he must use it on himself.

No Reduction in Price of Oakland Sensible Six

At this time when the public mind is disturbed by sensationally announced price reductions of automobiles and other merchandise and commodities, we desire to give assurance to those who require Personal Passenger Transportation, such as provided by the Oakland Sensible Six, that we do not anticipate reducing the price of our cars.

Starting with the production of the raw material required and continuing through to the finished product, over 80 per cent of the cost of an Oakland Sensible Six is labor.

Over 80 per cent of the cost of all other automobiles produced in large quantities is labor.

When wages paid to labor are reduced, or when labor produces more per man, then may manufacturers of honestly priced automobiles legitimately consider the reduction of their selling prices.

We have not heard of any instance where automobile workers are receiving lower wages.

If wages may be lowered eventually we see no immediate trend in that direction.

In the production of so essential a factor in our economic life as the passenger automobile—increasing as it does the personal efficiency of owners by nearly 57 per cent—we believe the workers whose toil produces the vehicle should be large beneficiaries of the constructive character of their work.

If abnormal demand has been responsible for over enthusiastic expansion and inflated profits in certain instances, the wage earner should not be to suffer as he must if powerful forces effect lower automobile prices whether or no.

True enough, there have been many instances of inflated prices. There has been profiteering. And true enough, abnormal profits must be eliminated.

And that is what has been going on all around you recently—the price reductions you have witnessed in automobiles and other merchandise are the belated shaking out of the abnormal profits. The normal profits are still there.

Manufacturers whose goods have been priced on actual cost to produce, plus normal profit, have no inflated figures with which to appeal to the uninformed public in sensational announcements of "Price Reductions." Prudent, studious buyers will not be misguided by erroneous principles.

Oakland Price Advance in Five Years, Due to Increased Cost of Labor and Material, Only 27.4 Per Cent

In 1915 Model 32 Oakland Sensible Six was put on the market at $795 f. o. b. factory.

Since 1915 the wheelbase of the Sensible Six has been lengthened five inches, its weight increased about four hundred pounds, its horsepower materially increased, its frame made deeper, and in many other ways the car has been enlarged, strengthened, improved and refined.

If the present Model 34 C had been built in 1915, it is more than conservative to say that, based on labor and material costs at that time we would have been compelled to list it to sell at $1095, or more f. o. b. factory.

We are therefore able to say, also with great conservatism, that the present price of Model 34 C represents an increase, due solely to increased costs of labor and material, of 27.4 per cent. Larger production each year has kept this increase at a low figure.

Compare this increase with the increase of other automobiles and with commodities, with the things you buy everyday.

Nowhere have we been able to find a standard article of merchandise that has increased as little in selling price as the price of the Oakland Sensible Six.

In the event of unexpected reductions in the cost of labor and material that enter into the construction of the Oakland Sensible Six to a point where we may properly and legitimately reduce the list price of our cars between October 1st, 1920, and May 1st, 1921, we will refund to every Oakland purchaser who buys within the above mentioned period of time the amount of such reduction.
